

The tents were big and comfortable. The noises at night were fascinating. So many noises I never heard before. Some nights I could nearly not sleep because I found it so interesting trying to figure out what kind of animals the noises come from.

